Real-Time Source Project Resource Launches

Online Tool Provides 24/7 Information Access for Project and BA Professionals

Arlington, VA – Aug. 5, 2009 – A new online resource that offers easy access to a range of project and business analysis resources, including templates and knowledge reference materials, has been launched by ESI International. Specifically designed for project management and business analysis professionals, the subscription service is accessible anytime from any Internet connection.

ESI Real-Time Source, www.esi-intl.com/source, is designed to improve productivity by allowing subscribers to quickly and easily locate templates, as well as PMBOK® Guide and BABOK® Guide knowledge. Available in-depth content includes phrases and keywords, best practices, project resources as well as templates and knowledge areas. The resource also includes content excerpted from ESI's extensive curriculum library.

"Access to a library of proven templates, tools and required knowledge will help any team work more consistently and efficiently," said J. LeRoy Ward, PMP, PgMP, Executive Vice President, ESI.

ESI's Real-Time Source is available by individual or enterprise subscription. The enterprise subscription includes report options that can be used to help identify future learning topics, opportunities for greater cooperation, and forecast skill gaps.

Individual subscriptions are available through Sept. 30, at a reduced $99.95 (regularly $120). For more information about ESI's Real-Time Source and for corporate licensing details, visit www.esi-intl.com/source, contact ESI at registration@esi-intl.com, or call +1 (800) ESI-1556.
